The 2018 PRC Symposium on The Disruptive Impact of FinTech on Retirement Systems explores how technological innovation is changing the retirement marketplace, insurance markets, and how plan sponsors help shape workers’ pension saving, investment, and decumulation plans. Academics, policymakers, and industry leaders discuss how these innovative and often disruptive developments are altering the retirement space. Conference participants include plan sponsors, benefits specialists, actuaries, academics, regulators, and others working to design resilient pensions for the next decades.

Financial Decision Making and Retirement Security in an Aging World. Eds. Olivia S. Mitchell, Brett Hammond, and Steve Utkus. As the world’s population lives longer, it will become increasingly important for plan sponsors, retirement advisors, regulators, and financial firms to focus closely on how older persons fare in the face of rising difficulties with cognition and financial management. This book offers state-of-the-art research and recommendations on how to evaluate when older persons need financial advice, help them make better financial decisions, and to identify policy options for handling these individual and social challenges efficiently and fairly.

Retirement System Risk Management. Eds. Olivia S. Mitchell, Raimond Maurer, and J. Michael Orszag. In the wake of the worst financial crisis since the Great Depression, lawmakers and regulators are rewriting the playbook for how banks and other financial institutions must manage their risks and report their activities. This volume assesses how global responses to the financial crisis are potentially altering how insurers, pension plan sponsors, and policymakers will manage risk in the decades to come. It also examines developments in retirement saving and retirement products, to determine which and how these might help meet shortfalls in retirement provision. ISBN 9780198787372.

The Market for Retirement Financial Advice. Eds. Olivia S. Mitchell and Kent Smetters. The landscape for financial advice is changing all over the world, with new rules and regulations transforming the financial advice profession. This volume explores the market for retirement financial advice; seeks to explain what financial advisors do; and discusses how to measure performance and impact. Contributors illuminate market and regulatory challenges so as to enhance consumer, plan sponsor, and regulator decisions. ISBN 978-0-19-968377-2.
